Powering Up: MCC, tribal business incubator in Peach Springs designed to charge new development

By MacKenzie Dexter, Originally Published: April 13, 2023 5:18 p.m.

PEACH SPRINGS – Mohave Community College in partnership with the Hualapai Tribe celebrated the grand opening of the Hualapai Business Incubator as a resource for local start-ups.

On Wednesday, April 12, community members, tribal members, MCC staff and elected officials attended the ribbon-cutting ceremony for the business incubator at 460 Hualapai Way in Peach Springs.

The incubator will give tribal members the tools and resources to start a business to serve the Hualapai Reservation along with visitors traveling on Route 66 and to the Grand Canyon.

Participants will have access to office space, technology, business development services, marketing, budgeting and financing assistance. Staff from MCC's Small Business Development Center will be at the facility to assist.

MCC and the tribe jointly receive a grant for the federal Native American Business Incubator Program, through the U.S. Department of the Interior Bureau of Indian Affairs. They were awarded $200,000 per year from 2022 through 2025, which can continue to be renewed.

"I hope you'll encourage your children and relatives to come here and build their business," Hualapai Tribal Council Chairperson Sherry Parker said to audience members. "It's really challenging trying to make sure that we're encouraging our people to seek education and bring that education back here to help."

Parker said that partnering with MCC is important because it brings education back to the reservation and can assist community members in growing their talents as entrepreneurs. It will also bring economic growth to the area.

"We need to just encourage one another, encourage our children, encourage a generation," Parker said.

Supervisor Travis Lingenfelter of District 1 said that small businesses and local entrepreneurs are the backbone of the county. The majority of businesses in Mohave County are stage one businesses – one to nine employees – or stage two businesses, with 10 to 99 employees.

"It's interesting to focus on the word 'incubator' which is used typically to sort of shelter and grow something that's very young," Lingenfelter said. "And that is what this facility is going to do for our business community."

MCC Board of Governors member for District 1 Candida Hunter said that the foundation to grow businesses in the reservation is there, but the incubator is another tool for people to use. Hunter said she is one of many graduates of MCC and having the presence of the college on the reservation will encourage the community to continue pursuing their education and developing new businesses.

"I just hope that our people take advantage of this opportunity so that we can continue to learn and to build the foundation from our youngest children, helping our women that are pregnant, up until they're adults and elders," Hunter said.

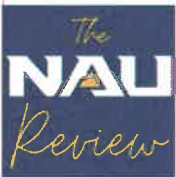

MCC President Stacy Klippenstein told the audience that MCC is on the land and territories of the Hualapai people, and the college strives to build sustainable relationships with sovereign nations across the state.

The opening of the business incubator is one way to continue building relationships with tribal members, according to Klippenstein.

"The college strives to build sustainable relationships with sovereign native nations and indigenous communities through educational offerings through partnership such as this, and community service," Klippenstein said.

CDC Awards $6 Million to Arizona Tribal Community Health Representative Programs

CDC awards $6 million to Arizona tribal community health representative programs

APR 10, 2023 | CAMPUS & COMMUNITY

The Arizona Advisory Council on Indian Health Care (AACIHC), in partnership with seven Tribes and Northern Arizona University's Center for Health Equity Research (CHER), was awarded a three-year, $6 million grant from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention to expand the tribally employed community health worker workforce to address health equity.

Building on nine years of collaboration between the AACIHC, CHER and Arizona community health representative programs in CHR workforce development and advocacy, the award provides $2 million annually to fund the Community Health Representative Workforce Integration in Tribal Health Systems to Address COVID-19 or CHR WITH uS!

This grant will enhance the CHR workforce's ability to build their communities' resilience to public health emergencies and promote health equity with and for American Indian communities across the state.

"Through its ripple effect, the CHR WITH uS! collaborative will support critical workforce development efforts across all 19 CHR programs operating in Arizona and will improve the lives of both CHRs and the communities they tirelessly serve," said Kim Russell, AACIHC director. "We spent time listening to the workforce and discovered how we could assist them."

CHR WITH uS! directly involves a consortium of seven tribally operated CHR programs, including Cocopah Indian Tribe, Colorado River Indian Tribes, Gila River Health Care, Hopi Tribe, Hualapai Tribe, Salt River Pima-Maricopa Indian Community and White Mountain Apache Tribe.

Who are CHRs?

Community health representatives (CHR) are highly trained, well-established standardized frontline health workers who are trusted to serve the medical and social needs of American Indian communities, often in their homes. CHRs are tribally employed health workers and function as the oldest and only federally funded community health worker (CHW) workforce in the country.

Nationally, the CHR workforce consists of approximately 2,000 CHRs representing 264 tribes. Of the 22 tribes in Arizona, 19 operate a CHR program and employ approximately 275 total CHR and supervisors—about 30 percent of the total CHW workforce in Arizona which totals about around 1,000 CHWs throughout the state.

Together, their work addresses challenges and significant policy opportunities to better integrate CHRs into health care, public health systems and teams identified by CHR Programs in the 2020 CHR Workforce Assessment.

For the Cocopah Tribe, the CHRs WITH uS! funding allowed them to fully fund a new Tribal Health Maintenance Program director, Sheryl Taylor, and two new CHRs, Lucrecia Jeronimo and Fee'a Maske, from the local community. The grant partially pays for two other transportation CHRs and administrative support for the Cocopah CHR Program.

Since their CHR program expansion, the team is now partnering with the Cocopah Head Start Program and is a daily, reliable presence for parents, grandparents and eventually anyone who needs assistance at the Head Start facility.

The Cocopah CHR program also collaborates with other tribal programs, such as the Cocopah Alcohol/Drug Abuse Prevention Program (ADAPP) and Health Promotions. They also coordinated two communitywide physical activity-focused events—a color run in February and “Get Air” trampoline event to raise awareness with tribal youth about blood pressure and stroke prevention. Visit their Facebook page for more program information.

“CHR WITH uS! has allowed community members to learn how to support each other in the best ways possible,” Jeronimo said. “It has improved our access to education opportunities that best fit the needs of our specific tribe.” In all, the CDC’s Community Health Workers for COVID Response and Resilient Communities (CCR) initiative is providing more than $300 million nationally in financial support and technical assistance to 69 state and local governments, tribes and health service providers to tribes to increase the number and capacity of CHWs in communities hardest hit by COVID-19 because of health disparities related to race, income, geographic location or other social determinants of health.

“This is a historical investment in the U.S. community health worker and community health representative workforce by the CDC. Our collaborative is one of only eight tribally funded programs and serves as a national model for CHR workforce development and collaboration,” said Samantha Sabo, associate professor of health sciences and the Center for Health Equity.

Sabo is a founding member of the Community Health Representative Coalition and the Community Health Worker Workforce Coalition and is chair of the Arizona Community Health Workers Association.

Grant goals include developing a CHR Workforce Development Hub to identify and provide critical training and support for CHW voluntary certification. The AACIHC has established a team of trainers to meet the workforce needs and to develop workforce capacity through robust train-the-trainer models, which can persist after grant funds end.

“Our team is incredibly honored to serve the workforce development needs of CHRs of Arizona. Through a training, mentorship and collaboration approach, the CDC-CCR Grant funds allow the program to be designed to address immediate workforce needs in a sustainable way,” said Bella Denton, grant manager, AACIHC. “We are especially proud of our CHR Annual Summit which provides not only powerful training designed for CHRs but serves as a space to honor these individuals and programs for serving their tribal communities.”

The November 2022 CHR Summit, largely funded by the grant, was attended by more than 140 CHRs, tribal leaders, tribal health advocates, Indian Health Services officials and other stakeholders representing more than 25 tribal organizations and CHR programs across Arizona, the Southwest and as far away as Washington, Minnesota and South Dakota.

Most innovative to CHRs WITH uS! is the Program-to-Program Mentoring (PPM) model designed by CHR managers to match CHR programs that have demonstrated effective integration systems, policies and protocols with CHR programs that do not have such experience and systems but have the desire to implement them.

In February 2022, CHR program managers identified their program strengths and weaknesses that could be enhanced through program-to-program mentorship and shadowing. “Being part of CHR programs coming together to explore and share their strengths is so powerful—learning is rooted in the uniqueness of the CHR experience and shared in ways that are respectful of the tribal program and context,” said Louisa O’Meara, CHER evaluation team.

In the summer of 2022, CHR managers of Gila River Health Care (GRHC) CHR and White Mountain Apache CHR worked together to increase the White Mountain Apache Tribe CHR Program’s data tracking and management by learning from Gila River CHR experience, protocols and data tracking systems.

The partners had two virtual meetings to discuss the types of information, protocols and forms that could be shared. They arranged and planned a full-day site visit that included a program overview, staff shadowing, a tour of the Gila River Indian Community homelands and unstructured time for questions and answers between the programs.

“We have so much to learn from Gila River CHR. For instance, I want our CHR program to move away from our model of keeping clients for years with no clear goals and move toward a case management model where CHRs establish a care plan and set goals with their clients,” said Nashio, CHR manager at WMAT in discussing her vision for partnering with GRHC.

“CHR WITH uS! means building stronger tribal communities with CHRs who have a true desire to help improve the health outcomes of their people,” said Janet Yellowhair, CHER evaluation team.

The Planning Department Seeking One (1) New TERC Member

Submitted by: Kevin Davidson | Hualapai Planning Department

The Great Spirit created Man and Woman in his own image. In doing so, both were created as equals. Both depending on each other in order to survive. Great respect was shown for each other; in doing so, happiness and contentment was achieved then, as it should be now.

The connecting of the Hair makes them one person; for happiness or contentment cannot be achieved without each other.

The Canyons are represented by the purples in the middle ground, where the people were created. These canyons are Sacred, and should be so treated at all times

The Reservation is pictured to represent the land that is ours, treat it well.

The Reservation is our heritage and the heritage of our children yet unborn. Be good to our land and it will continue to be good to us.

The Sun is the symbol of life, without it nothing is possible - plants don't grow - there will be no life - nothing. The Sun also represents the dawn of the Hualapai people. Through hard work, determination and education, everything is possible and we are assured bigger and brighter days ahead.

The Tracks in the middle represent the coyote and other animals which were here before us.

The Green around the symbol are pine trees, representing our name Hualapai - PEOPLE OF THE TALL PINES -

Seeking One (1) New Board Member for the Hualapai Tribal Utility Authority (HTUA)Submitted by: Kevin Davidson | Hualapai Planning DepartmentSeeking One New Board Member for the Hualapai Tribal Utility Authority (HTUA)

On September 24, 2014, the Hualapai Tribal Council adopted the Hualapai Tribal Utility Authority Governing Ordinance. This is a significant step toward self-determination in the realm of public utilities for the Hualapai Tribe.

Established as an institution of Tribal government, the five members of the Hualapai Tribal Utility Authority board are chosen by Council. As noted in Section 107.b.3, of the Ordinance, the HTUA Board is authorized to acquire, construct, operate, maintain, promote, and expand electric power service, and eventually water service, and sewage service at Grand Canyon West and on such other locations within the Hualapai Reservation and on other Tribal lands under the jurisdiction of the Hualapai Tribe as the Tribal Council may deem appropriate. The HTUA board is delegated full authority and responsibility for the management and operation of HTUA consistent with the Ordinance.

At this time, the Tribe is seeking one new candidate to apply for Board membership to maintain this important function of Tribal government.

- ◆ The position may be filled by a member of the Community who has sufficient education, experience, and sound judgment to learn basic utility business practices and procedures.
- ◆ The new board member will be appointed for a three-year term.
- ◆ No employee of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, employee of the HTUA or member of the Tribal Council shall be a member of the Board.

Please prepare a letter of interest offering your qualifications (resume) and general motivation to be a member of the Hualapai Tribal Utility Authority Board and what you hope to achieve while on the Board. Please bring or e-mail your letter of interest to the Tribal Office, 941 Hualapai Way, Peach Springs, Arizona, attention Christine Lee, by Friday, June 2, 2023, at 5:00 PM. Thank you for your thoughtful consideration of this offer and desire to enhance utility services on the Hualapai Reservation.

"Though We Stumble"

The Lord makes firm the steps of the one who delights in Him,
though he may stumble,
he will not fail,
for the Lord upholds
him with his hand.
(Psalms 37:23,24)

Translation

The steps of the Godly are directed by the Lord.
He delights in every detail of their lives.
Though they stumble, they will not fall,
for the Lord holds them by the hand.
Amen!

Recall a near miss or two.
The accident that almost happened,
the plane you almost missed,
the storm that began just a few seconds after you made it inside.
Adrenaline pumping,
we may forget to thank God
for that extra boost of speed or the extra stopping power of our brakes.

Did we really almost fall,
or were we given a glimpse of the Lord at work in our lives?
As humans, we stumble,
as His children, we are caught!
Amen!

So, I, myself have experienced going through a near miss incident.
And that is why I believe the Lord
was with me and made a way
where I thought I was a goner!
I serve a Mighty God!!
Have a good day!

OUR VOLUNTEERS

KWLP, "The Peach"

Proudly Announces and Congratulates
March 2023 Volunteer of the Month:
Steve DeFord, aka Pastor Steve

Steve DeFord, aka Pastor Steve continue to be an invaluable Peach team member. He and his family have supported and participated in the Hualapai Tribe radio programs since its inception as a Kidstar station and then EPCH, internet only. Pastor Steve is host of Redeemed and Free, KWLP's long-running and popular gospel show airing on Wednesday evenings at 6:00pm and Sunday mornings at 10:00am.

"Redeemed and Free" always begins with the segment "The Truth with Ms.

Sherry," hosted by Pastor Steve's wife, Sherry DeFord. During his show,

Pastor Steve shares scripture and features southern gospel music. Pastor

Steve and his family are well known in the PSA community. Steve is Pastor at the Hualapai Baptist Highway Church and worked at the Walapai Market for many years. Three of his sons were original KIDSTAR show hosts and one, Micah worked at the station. Miss Sherry also teaches at the local Church school. Steve's brother Jeff shares his nationally syndicated show: "Down to the Roots," with Peach listeners at no cost to the KWLP. This Bluegrass show immediately follows Steve's show at 7:00pm Wednesday evenings.

Steve has always impressed staff with his professionalism in his preparations and presentations. When able, Steve helps at events, solicits advertisers and personally contributes regularly to Listener give aways. He rarely misses a show, meeting or training! We truly appreciate all he does with and for KWLP and the community!

Pastor Steve will receive incentives valued at $100 for being Volunteer of the Month! If you might be interested in volunteering, call at (928) 769-1110.
